FOR GOVERNOR,

Hon. Sidney Perham

OF PARIS.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

It is probable that of the number of people who glibly demand an immediate reform in the civil service, not one in a hundred has any but the most vague idea of what he really desires, or of the magnitude and difficulty of the undertaking. It is a characteristic of our people, that so soon as an evil is discovered, numbers of ingenious persons are ready to take a contract for its remedy, each confident that his own is the only feasible method, and that any skepticism as to the infallibility of its results is proof positive that the questioner is hostile to the particular object, and a dangerous enemy to reform. The discussion of reform in the administration of the civil service of the United States has afforded striking examples of this enthusiastic empiricism and the intolerance with which the careful consideration of an important and perplexing question is regarded by the impetuous advocates of pet projects. The influence of politics upon official appointments is an evil which we owe to the Democratic establishment of the system of apportioning the offices of the nation as party spoils, and the abuses of patronage, having grown up with our political system, have assumed proportions and such almost inextricable complications with all the minute details of the politics of our country, that it is unreasonable to expect to solve the difficulties presented, without giving to the subject such earnest study and thorough investigation as will secure that intelligent appreciation of the disease to be treated, which is indispensible to the discovery of a cure. Such considerations as the above have prevented the hasty adoption of experiments involving a revolution in our system without adequate guarantee of successful improvement, and hence Congress failed to pass the bill of Mr. Jenckes and other kindred projects, which, although promising fairly, were entirely experimental. It is not only gross injustice to the Republican party to cite their reluctance in adopting doubtful theories which would be sure to disorganize without any certainty of benefitting the service, as evidence of their hostility to reform, but justice demands that the party should receive the highest mood of praise for consenting to grapple with the abuse of patronage at a time when its advantages are all in their own hands, and, in the face of a strong and unscrupulous opposition, voluntarily taking steps towards the surrender of this powerful agency. This is the attitude of the Republican party to-day, in its applying itself to the abolition of abuses originated by its opponents and upon which political parties have hitherto fattened, it is one of the strongest proofs of its devotion to the best interests of the people and of its virtuous strength which enables it to do it.

The appointment of a Commission, the selection of which has been universally approved, promises to begin this work of reform upon a basis of common sense. A Board, in whose ability and integrity all have confidence, focuses at the beginning by studying the system as it is, to ascertain what is needed to make it what it should be. Their work has not yet progressed sufficiently for any detailed report, but we have proofs that it is to be prosecuted systematically and with a purpose. One important fact has, however, been noted, the Boston Advertiser stating by authority that the Commission has been astonished at the efficiency of the system already introduced in the Departments at Washington, where most important reforms have been established under the present administration, leaving little to be desired in the strictness of examination of applicants, the regulations of discipline, or the general fitness and ability of the various corps. The report will show that President Grant and his Cabinet have been practical reformers while their critics have been theorizing, and that any considerate recommendations for further improvement will receive the most cordial support by the administration.

We regard it as highly honorable to the President, that he has not only selected as members of this Commission gentlemen widely known as Special advocates of civil service reform, but that he has placed the whole subject in their hands without dictate or restriction, promising his cordial assistance in their labors. Had he imposed any restraints upon the action of the Board, or marked out beforehand the limits within which their inquiries were to be prosecuted, the whole of the opposition press would have opened in full chorus with charges of hampering the investigation and attempting to curtail its action, and when we find a leading organ like the Boston Post assailing the President for shirking the responsibility and throwing it's work upon others, because he gave the Commission carte blanche in their treatment of the subject, we wonder that any newspaper should be willing to exhibit such poverty of criticism and show so conclusively that snarling political animosity is more potent than its simulated desire for reform.

The Republican party and President Grant have gone about this business in a systematic and sensible manner; an able body of men are investigating the whole subject with the utmost care, and their deductions will be worth more than all the theories of enthusiasts. Through this Commission the Republican party is taking important steps in this reform, we shall owe to that party whatever knowledge may come of its investigations, and that party will be called upon to take responsible action upon the measures suggested by the facts. In the light of past and present circumstances there can be nothing more absurd than the cheap slurs of the Democrats about a gigantic undertaking which they would never have attempted, but which the Republican party has boldly essayed, despite the difficulties of the task, confident that the people will more than compensate by their support, any voluntary surrender of political advantage which may be dictated by a desire to purify and elevate the character of the public service.

DEATH OF GEORGE H. KNOWLTON, ESQ. The Portland Press comes to us dressed in deep mourning out of respect for the memory of its former managing editor, Geo. H. Knowlton, Esq., who died at Biddeford on Monday of inflammation of the bowels, after a very brief sickness. Mr. Knowlton was a native of New Hampshire, but a resident of this State, having been for several years Register of Probate for York County and at the time of his death U. S. Assessor of Internal Revenue for the first district. He was educated for a lawyer, was a ready and graceful writer and a gentleman of pleasing and estimable personal qualities. His sudden death cut off a promising career and at the early age of 36 he has left a wide circle of friends to deplore his loss and sympathize with his bereaved widow and child.

The remains of C. C. Brown were anxiously awaited by his all day Tuesday, in company with his wife in the prison, but none arrived, neither did he come himself nor telegraphed from Lodi, thus the hopes that had been formed of his being free, vanished to the disappointment of his friends.

In a letter to the Golden Age upon Mr. Colfax's affairs, Mr. James Parton maintains that this Minister himself may be traced to our national measures in denying our statesmen and rulers salaries commensurate with their social positions and duties. He says that the editors of our great daily newspapers could do little but for the assistance in clerks allowed them, and points to the fact that members of Congress who have private fortunes generally have secretaries. He says:

Mr. Colfax occupies a most perplexing and tantalizing position. He is the second man in a rich and powerful nation, and has the salary of a bank cashier. Such a secretary as he needs and ought to have cannot be obtained for less than two thousand dollars a year, which is a fourth part of his official income. Can you wonder at his determination to retire to private life? The remedy is simple and obvious. It is merely to abolish all fees, mileages, and perquisites, and multiply the salaries of the leading persons of the government by three; which would about bring them to the point at which they were fixed in the time of President Washington. How absurd to pay Mr. Boutwell a salary on which he cannot keep house in Washington, while some of the financial agents whom he appoints maintain establishments to which that of the President is mean! The inevitable consequence must be that the men of force and ability will choose the positions of real power and govern the government from without. Able men cannot be had for the wages we pay—shinny and poverty.

"THERE WERE THREE CROWS SAT ON A TREE." Gov. Hoffman sent a letter of apology to the Tammany celebration on the 4th, in the course of which he said the acceptance or non-acceptance of certain amendments to the U. S. Constitution is not a practical question. "The civil status of the colored man is established and he is in actual possession of the rights of suffrage. The task before us is to save the Constitution as a whole. To save it as it is, requires our best efforts. The question is whether we are to live under a constitution constructed by an impartial court and limited, or under the hollow form of a constitution interpreted according to the expediency of the hour by Congress itself and enforced by an unrestrained Executive."

Gen. McClellan in a letter to the Tammany meeting said: "Slavery is dead; let it remain forever. The negro has a right to vote; let him keep it, but strive to educate him to a fitness for the high privilege conferred on him. Show him who his real friends are and he will eventually turn in our own favor the weapon so carefully forged for our destruction."

Wm. M. Tweed, in the course of his remarks, declared the following purpose, which would excite some alarm, were it deemed possible that the Tammany thieves should ever get control of the country:

"We propose to strike forward into a noble career and let past issues die. We propose to take the government of the country into our own hands and save the country from ruin."

Mr. C. P. Kimball of Portland has received the "Democratic" nomination for Governor, mainly, it would appear, upon the ground, as stated in the Convention, that "no man has contributed so liberally to the support of the party as he," which certainly looks very much as if Mr. Kimball had bought the nomination by the munificence of his donations to a desperate cause. How much he proposes to plank down this year, we are not informed, but for his own sake we hope that he will not spend all his substance in a dubious speculation. The Convention voted "to bury out of sight all dead issues." Better bury all the dead men! By the way, the speech which Mr. Clifford, champion of the Young Democracy and New Departure, delivered in the Convention was a good deal mixed and miscellaneous. The Democratic party "had always stood for principle, even when it seemed to be defending Slavery." Exactly so; it stood for the principle or want of principle in Human Servitude, and what happened to its consequence was nicely described by the orator. "It made," said he, "many divergences from principle;" but however eccentrically it "diverged," it never lost sight of its duty to sustain the Constitution, and therefore its action was thoroughly consistent with "fundamental Democracy." We leave the bothered reader of that opinion, if he can, what this means; we are sure that we don't know.

—N. Y. Tribune.

The New York Tribune states that a letter received recently by a prominent head of a Bureau in Washington, shows how Jeff. Davis regards the situation and the future, in the following words:

"While Davis was recently swinging round the 'Confederate' circle, laudably engaged in refiring the southern heart, he stood sponsor to the child of an intimate friend residing in the neighborhood of Chattanooga. A conversation ensued on the prospects of the South. The friend was gloomy, but the rebel Ex-President cheered him with: 'Never mind, my dear Colonel, it will all come out right. We have recovered a portion of our ground. At the next election we will get back every Southern State Legislature. We can impeach the Radical Governors, and I assure you that if I live, I fully expect to be, within two years, reinstated as President of the Southern Confederacy!'"

The person from whom this statement comes is credited with being thoroughly trustworthy. There is little doubt that Jeff. Davis did utter words, in substance such as are given above, at the time and on the occasion indicated.

A ANOTHER FRIGHTFUL RAILWAY DISASTER—FIFTEEN PERSONS KILLED AND TWENTY-THREE WOUNDED. A passenger train on the Nashville & North Western R. R., which left Nashville, Tenn., at 8:20 p. m. Tuesday, composed of two coaches and a sleeping car, met with a deplorable accident at Harpeth River, about 18 miles from Nashville. After the locomotive and baggage car had crossed the bridge over the river, the bridge gave way and the remainder of the train fell into the stream. Fifteen persons, so far as known at present, were killed, and 23 wounded.

The killed are:—John Marshall of Nashville, Judge Harnberger of Clarksville, Chas. Campbell, wife and child of Edgeville opposite Nashville, three men unknown, Mrs. Wm. Statman and Mrs. Thomas Dunn, of Kingston Springs, Mr. Pendergast and Mr. Wight of White Bluff, J. C. Brackett and brother, Wm. and Willy Howard of Marshall County.

The wounded are:—W. W. Gee, Brakeman; V. Hale, Point Isabel Ind.; Miss Heard Trenton, Tenn; J. W. Scott; Mr. Wilharis; Miss Clem Lake and John Campbell of Nashville; J. W. Thompson of Amherst Court House, Va.; Alexander Wright of White Bluff; W. Walker of Union City; W. E. Featman of Memphis; Thos. R. Featman of Kingston Springs, Miss; Miss Brown of Johnsonville; John Pegram and mother; Conductors Landis and S. S. Brown of Nashville; Robert Daniel of Bedford County, and Thomas Dunn of Kingston Springs.

None of the wounded are mortally hurt. The dead and wounded were brought to Nashville, the bodies of dead strangers being left at the undertakers for burial. The accident was the result of weakness in the bridge, as the train was moving slowly.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE MASS MEETING. The Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, held a mass meeting at Framingham Grove, Mass., on Tuesday, which was well attended. Speeches were made by Mrs. Lucy Stone Blackwell, Mrs. Livermore, Mrs. Dr. Mercy B. Jackson, Abby Kelly Foster, Rev. Jesse H. Jones, Wm. S. Robinson, S. S. Fowles and others. The burden of the remarks was the recent opinion of the Supreme Court of the State, that women cannot be Justices of the Peace, which was severely criticised and condemned. Mrs. Livermore was also very severe upon the editors of the N. Y. Tribune, Scribner's Magazine and Every Saturday. Resolutions were passed in relation to the Supreme Court, and to the memory of the late Samuel J. May. One woman communicated herself that the assembled audience say that, nothing more and overall approach to the character of man and Congressmen.

A House letter says that for nearly twenty years Po Noop has been passing to be assassinated; that he has [illegible] prominent he would be slain in the "City of Sons," and that he really covets martyrdom in the cause of the Church; believing that it would be a fitting close to his stormy and troubled career, and ensure the canonization for which he has longed more than for any earthly honor.

Nicholas Halpine, son of the late "Miles O'Reilly," passed the required examination and has been admitted into the Naval Academy at Annapolis, to which he was appointed by the Hon. Robert B. Roosevelt.

YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

have proved, beyond the possibility of a doubt, that LATHAM'S CATHARTIC EXTRACT is the most successful and effective remedy extant for the cure of Dyspepsia, Constipation, Biliousness, and diseases emanating from a corrupt state of the blood. The high estimation it is held in by those of the medical profession and the thousands who have already experienced such beneficial results by its use, should, we think, entitle it to the earnest consideration of those who are so afflicted. How We Used to be Physicked.

Who does not remember the time when spring purgation was considered indispensable to summer health? No matter for very facts, the inoffensive salts and senna, rhubarb, or calomel and jalap, must be administered. These "spring medicines," the youngsters were told, were to keep them hale and hearty during the summer. We all know how that this was a folacy; that new vigor, not depletion, is what is required at the commencement of the summer solstice. As a preparation for the enervating effects of oppressive summer weather, a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is highly expedient. This famous vegetable preparation has three special properties: It renovates, purifies, and regulates all the functions of the body. It is composed exclusively of pure vegetable medicines, viz: the essential principle of Mandrake, Calisaya Berks, and Gentian, combined with the most efficacious tonic and aperative roots, barks, and gums known to medical botanists. Hence, it is an absolutely safe medicine, as free from the impurities of Pharmacopeia can compare with it either in purity, or in the variety of its objects, and its comprehensive results. Happily for mankind, the theory that it was necessary to prostrate a patient in order to cure him, is forever exploded, and the true philosophical doctrine, that vigor is the great antagonist of disease, has taken its place. Hostetter's Bitters is an invigorant, and hence it is a perfect medicine for the feeble at this most trying season of the year. Be sure that you obtain the genuine article, as there are numerous worthless imitations in the market. Look to the ornamental stamp, the engraved label, and the name blown into the glass. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is sold in bottles only.

CONSUMPTION.

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Of any human being has passed away for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputable proved means of cure. Those who are dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderful efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that when every medical vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into health and vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous to the faith of the invalid. It finds no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible witness. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is rational. No Philosophy requires no argument. It is self-satisfying, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of Consumption is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the mucous action of the liver. Here then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's richest gifts—the Podophyllum Peltatum. They possess the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and morbid deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up, the muscles from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsibly, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, promotes and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exceriation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the great Blood Purifier over yet given by an intelligent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It ripens the matter in the lungs. Indeed cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and obstructed portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and in a very short time the malady is vanquished. It matters not then that it occupied a generated and morbid new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, stands forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room, until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and wintertime, do all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients. If their lungs are badly diseased, and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

Into despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own case was in these words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of scrofula which confined me to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of and obtained the prescription which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel the prescription in my whole system. They once removed the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my sweat, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was painful. I had to watch and keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown fleshy ever since.

"I was considered by my friends, after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-five pounds; my present weight, a few hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He resides with Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continues to see patients at his office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who live at a distance can consult with the Doctor by letter. The Respirometer accompanies the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can judge for themselves whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow those directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them. First, the Seaweed Tonic, to clean the stomach, bowels, and the whole alimentary canal. When it comes, as it will soon, let the demulcent at once be of good client. Good blood at once follows. The cough loosens, the lights swell into shape, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting at last, a healthy body and health.

Thousands of incurables are constantly kept in cases of thousands of persons. As a laxative or purgative, one of the three medicines need be taken; if a cathartic, two; if a tonic, three. The Pulmonic Syrup is a mild tonic, and can safely be taken by the most delicate female, or child, or invalid. Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is a mild tonic, and can safely be taken by the most delicate female, or child, or invalid.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

Prince Bismarck has gone to his Varzin estates where he will probable remain until the middle of August.

The Mobile Register refuses to recommend a new hand-book of elocution because it contains only two selections from Southern writers

The Cleveland Herald thinks that the object of the leaders of the Ohio Democracy is to carry the Legislature, which would give them a United States Senator and the power to redistrict the State The leaders are apparently acting in concert, and though they can hardly hope to elect McCook, they have a chance of succeeding in what is of much more importance to them.

The St Paul Pioneer, the leading Democratic paper in Minnesota, objects to the financial plank in the Ohio platform as an obsolete Pendletonianism which contributed much to the defeat of the party at the last Presidential election, and which is now brought forward to gratify the personal feelings of a spoiled favorite in the Ohio Democracy, after having been submitted to the people in 1868 and squarely beaten.

The New York World is severe on a few journals calling themselves Democratic but in reality being anachronisms merely, who it says "are comforting their seventeenth century souls with the statement that Hon Jerry S Black opposes the new departure" On the contrary, the World avers that Black wrote the Pennsylvania address which indorses the new departure, and in its well assumed indignation asks "When will these Bourbon ghosts stop their squeaks and gibbers, pluck up their petticoats, and vanish?"

THE NATIONAL HOLIDAY.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATIONS.

Tuesday, July 4th, the ninety-fifth anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence, was very generally celebrated in this part of the State, in the good old fashioned style, nearly every town and village holding a festival of its own, largely attended and very successful Omitting the spread-eagle introduction which we might write and nobody would read, we plunge into the middle of the matter, by giving brief sketches of the ceremonies in the towns round about us, as furnished us by reporters and correspondents These reports are necessarily brief, owing to their number, and can give but little idea of the affairs, but every one, so far as we learn, was enjoyable and enjoyed by the large numbers that every case attended them the programme we published on Monday was carried out in nearly every particular The day was fine, and a great many people were up to see the sun rise, it being impossible for a person with any nerves to remain in bed during the fusillade, Lorn-blowing and other raucous noises commenced by Young America at an extremely early hour. The only public services held in the city during the day, were conducted by Stone & Murray's Circus, which gave three performances to immense audiences. A salute was fired and the church bells rung at sunset, as well as sunrise, and during the evening fireworks were let off in different parts of the city at private expense These family pyrotechnics were, as a general thing, very successful, and were witnessed by crowds, Large delegations left the city in the morning to attend the celebrations up river and elsewhere, returning in the evening The usual amount of intoxication was observed, but the police preserved good order during the day and sobered off lots of celebrators in the lock up A together, the day was quiet and dull in Bangor

IN BREWER

the day was also quiet, the annual Levee given by the ladies of the First Church, in the Town Hall, being well attended and successful a salute was fired at sunrise, and a large procession of "fantastics" paraded at an early hour A brass band and a large company of cavalry escorted a procession through the principal streets to the Town Hall where an excellent dinner was served, followed by short speeches, toasts and sentiments, interspersed with appropriate music In the evening a fine display of fireworks was made and a grand ball was given at the hotel.

IN CASTINE

a fantastic parade, a greased pig chase, a boat race, and other sports occupied the day In the evening the ladies of the Unitarian Society gave a strawberry festival A grand ball wound up the celebration

AT BOWDOINHAM AND FOXCROFT

the celebration was opened early by a national salute fired from anvils. At 10 o'clock a procession was formed by the Sabbath Schools of the two villages and a large school from South Dover and marched through the streets to martial music to a beautiful grove owned by Hon. John G Mayo, where short addresses were made by the several clergymen superintendents and other friends of the schools, interspersed with singing by the children At noon, the assemblage partook of a pic nic dinner, and the afternoon was occupied by the children in juvenile sports and games. A horse trot came off on the Pleasant Central Park, but our correspondent has not sent us a report of the time made, or the winning horses the ladies of the Congregational Society gave a strawberry festival in the afternoon, which is reported as being a success.

AT GUILFORD

the Good Templars had a pic nic, which was largely attended and much enjoyed the Crosby Guards, Capt. Flagg, paraded for the first time in their new uniforms and equipments, in the forenoon. The company distinguished itself by orderly conduct and soldierly bearing during the whole day, and exhibited a gratifying precision in drill, equally creditable to the officers and men. An excellent dinner was served to the company by the ladies of the village. A levee and strawberry festival was given in the Town Hall by the ladies of the Universalist Society, which was well arranged and successful beyond the mob sanguine expectations

AT HAMPDEN

AT HARRINGTON

The new Soldiers' Monument, sculptured at Bradbury's works in this city, and which was lately described in these columns, was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies An immense audience was in attendance, and the occasion was one of great interest.

AT KENDUSKEAG

The usual salute was fired in the morning In the forenoon a large procession was formed and headed by a cavalry company in uniform and the Corinth Cornet Band, marched to a fine Grove, where a stand and seats in the form of an amphitheatre had been erected Over 2,000 people gathered here The assemblage was called to order by E F Crane, Esq, and led in prayer by Rev. Mr. Blackman the Declaration of Independence was read by Mr Harry C Hall well, of this city Following this, Gen. H. M. Plaisted, of this city, delivered an oration. The speaker occupied some 35 minutes in its delivery, and was applauded to the echo, the whole of the great audience listening intently to the end. Lack of space compels us to forego publishing this oration as well as the others, delivered at other places Music for the occasion was furnished alternately by a large choir and the Corinth Band At the conclusion of the exercises in the Grove, a capital dinner, served at Garland's Hotel, was partaken of, followed by toasts short speeches, and music. In the evening a largely-attended ball was given at the hotel

AT LINCOLN

The day was ushered in by a salute, and in the early morning a fantastic parade was held The train leaving this city at 7 o'clock carried up the Jameson Guards, Capt. Daniel White, a number of the speakers, and a crowd of people going to attend the celebration Upon arriving at Lincoln, the Guards were received by Chief Marshal Emerson and aids, and, with the Lincoln Cornet Band, marched, escorting the invited guests, to Coburn's Hotel From there the Guards marched to the brick hotel, where they stacked arms and broke ranks. After "dusting up," the company re-formed, and, headed by the band, at 11 o'clock, received the speakers and invited guests, the children of the Sabbath Schools, and a large body of citizens, and escorted them to a beautiful Grove owned by Hon T Fuller, where a large stand and seats had been built for the occasion. Some 2,500 people were present, the seats being filled and many standing in the aisles and at the sides and rear The stand was occupied by the officers of the day, the speakers, and the invited guests J. P. Robinson, Esq., called the audience to order, and introduced Hon T. Fuller, as President. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Matthews, of Lincoln, followed by music by the band, and the reading of the Declaration of Independence by Mr Wetherbee. After another piece of music, Hon. John A Peters, of this city, was introduced as the orator of the day His oration, which occupied an hour in the delivery, was devoted to a review of the history and progress of our country since the Declaration of Independence, and a glance at its prospects in the future. The address was a humane, substantial production, evincing a thorough acquaintance with the subject matter, and while judiciously avoiding allusion to partisan politics, it was replete with patriotism and devotion to the principles of our government It was received with frequent and hearty applause. Mr. Peters was followed by Abraham Sanborn, Esq., of this city, who spoke without notes some three-quarters of an hour, advocating Free Trade as best calculated to better the condition of the laboring classes, and devoting considerable time to the defense of the district system of employing common school teachers. At the conclusion of his remarks, the procession was re formed and marched to a huge tent on the village common, where an excellent dinner was served by H G Coburn, Esq Some time was occupied in discussing the abundant edibles on the long tables, when the Jameson Guards, before leaving the tent gave three cheers and a Bengal-our "tiger" to the ladies of Lincoln, and Gen. White gave a complimentary toast to the town and its inhabitants This was responded to by cheers, and Col J. W. Porter, of Burlington, who presided at the middle table, called the assemblage to order, and introduced W. F Ayer, Esq., as Toast Master. The first regular toast—"The Day we Celebrate," was responded to by an eloquent speech by Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, of this city, who, at the close of his remarks, gave—"A Republican Government—the strongest, as it is the freest ever instituted by man."

The second regular toast was, "The Proclamation of Emancipation—may it soon extend to all our fellow citizens, of both sexes" E C Brett Esq, of this city responded in a happy manner, productive of much applause and merriment. The third regular toast was "The Declaration of American Independence," and it was responded to by Wm H. McCrillis Esq, of this city, in a brief but telling speech, giving at its close "Equal rights and equal laws, to the end that Labor may eat the bread it earns." In response to the sentiment, "Progress, National and Individual—may it ever be onward and upward," Dr. C. A Jordan of this city read an original poem, which was loudly applauded. Hon. S H Blake of this city responded to the toast, "Our Country and the Fourth of July" with one of his stirring speeches, and the last regular toast, "The Ladies—as home without their purity and love would be desolate so the State without their virtue and intelligence would be corrupt and lost," was responded to by Hon Henry E Prentiss of this city who offered—"A judicious tariff sufficient to defray the expenses of the Government and pay the national debt, and so adjusted as to relieve the laboring classes"

At 5 o'clock the Jameson Guards, every member of which was in his place and ready for duty, gave a fine exhibition drill in the street, which did them great credit and was much admired and commented by the spectators. It is rare to meet a company of men so perfectly disciplined and gentlemanly in conduct as the Guards, and both officers and men may well be proud of the fact that not a man of them was intoxicated or in the least disorderly on this occasion

At the conclusion of the drill Mr Coburn served a good supper in the tent, and at 6 15 the Bangor visitors left for home on the down train

The celebration closed by a fine display of fireworks and a ball at Brooks's Hotel in the morning, the usual salute was fired, and the inevitable fantastics paraded In the forenoon, a large procession was formed in front of the Durham House, and marched with martial music to the grove, which was well fitted up for the occasion with seats and stand After he assemblage was called to order prayer was offered by Rev Albion Fogg and Miss S A Munsur read the Declaration of Independence. The oration, which was greatly admired and received with much applause, was delivered by Col J F Godfrey of this city He was followed in a brief speech by Rev Mr Harris, and the procession then marched back to the Hotel where dinner was served In the afternoon there was a horse trot on the Monroe Park the Firemen's parade and trial of engines were the principal features of the celebration The Eagle Company, No 3, of Bangor, and the Eagles of Brewer, arrived on the train at half past 8 in the morning and were received by the Oldtown Fire Department, headed by the Stillwater Cornet Band After marching through the principal streets, they witnessed, with thousands of other spectators, a race between six canoes manned by Penobscot Indians." At 1 P. M, an excellent dinner, provided by the citizens, was partaken of by the firemen and invited guests, in the Town Hall After dinner, the Declaration of Independence was read by Rev. Mr Williams Rev Mr Bingham made an address of welcome, which was responded to for the Stillwater Company by Mr Frank Hamlen, for the Eagles of Bangor by Mr Frazier for the Eagles of Brewer by Mr Leach Col Twitchell also made some remarks, which were well received. The trial of engines was then proceeded with, which resulted as follows—Excelsior, of Upper Stillwater played 185 feet, 2 inches, taking the first prize of $50, Eagle of Brewer, played 183 feet, 8 inches, taking the second prize of $25, and the Eagles of Bangor, who have a machine very much smaller than the others and played for the first time with it at a trial of engines, reached 179 feet, 2 inches. In the trial for the tub horn, the Brewer tub won, playing 196 feet.

Upon arriving home, the Eagles of this city marched to the Harriman House, where they partook of a capital supper. Mayor Dale, Asst. Engineer Small of the Bangor Department, Engineer Mansfield of the Steamers, and a few other invited guests were present The Mayor, after supper, made a few remarks, complimenting the company on their fine appearance and bearing, and especially on the good order in which they came back from the celebration. He was followed by Mr Sargent (an ex Eagle) and Mr J. E Harriman, and the company then dispersed the chief attractions were on the Webster Trotting Park, where a horse trot and a trial of fire engines occurred. There was a full attendance upon the grounds and a civil and quiet good time. The following are the summaries of the proceedings

For the sweepstakes, for purses of $150, $70, $50 and $30 open to all horses, K. Larkin entered "Daniel Boone," N G. Gould entered "Green Mountain Boy," and F. S. Palmer entered "Grey Target" Daniel Boone won in three straight heats, "Green Mountain Boy" coming in second, time 2 44, 2 45, and 3 42½.

For the 3 minute purse of $100—$70 to first, $20 to second, and $10 to third—J B P Wheelden entered "Captain D", F S Palmer entered "Louisa W.", H. Antoine entered "New Hampshire Boy," S Spencer entered "Tommie Drew", and Job Brawn entered "Little Nel" Louisa W" won the first heat, "Captain D" coming in second, and the other horses were distanced, but Capt. D won the next three heats and the race time 2 51, 2 55, 2.53 and 2 53.

In the engine trial, Eagle No 1, of Orono, was the winner, playing 199 feet, 9 inches, Monitor No 2, taking the second prize by a play of 194 feet 5 inches. The engines played with unfavorable winds, and the above is not as well as they have done in their private trials
